*For millions of California workers, the economy has been devastating.
Lost jobs, lost homes and lost dreams.*

Our nation now has the greatest inequality in recorded history. Big business and the banks sit on record profits, while families struggle just to put food on the table. Companies aren't hiring, banks aren't lending, and the recession isn't ending for us.

It is no coincidence that at a time of such great inequality, we have seen renewed attacks on the freedom to join a union and bargain for better wages, benefits and working conditions. While workers filled the Wisconsin statehouse to protest the elimination of collective bargaining for teachers and state employees, California's workers are mobilizing to defeat yet another attempt to silence our voice in the political process. Just when America needs unions most, we are under concerted attack from coast to coast.

Workers won't be silenced. Who else will stand up to the corporations that want tax breaks to send our jobs offshore? Or the banks that would rather take a family's home than renegotiate their loan? Workers must have the right to speak in a collective voice or we'll always be drowned out by the corporate megaphone.

In California, the tide is turning. After seven years of a Schwarzenegger Administration that turned its back on workers, we now have a Governor who believes in a fair economy, in funding our schools and our public safety, and in restoring the California Dream. This year, California Labor made real progress to revive our economy, protect our communities, and restore hope for the future.

Labor's agenda is about the California we all believe in: better jobs, greater opportunity, and stronger communities – not just for union members, but for all Californians. That will be our common ground as we rebuild our economy and bring back our state's promise. The men and women who built this state, and whose work makes it run, deserve no less.

In Unity,

Art Pulaski
Executive Secretary-Treasurer

Connie Leyva
President
